The People's Verdict On the President's Plea

Friday's Building Record.

Out and out opponents of the League of Nations Covenant are not converted by President Wilson's plea that it is "a practical necessity," "the only hope for mankind," and that to reject it would be to "break the heart of the world." The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for this week-July 19-gives a country-wide survey of the press and interviews with United States senators, enabling readers to gain a very definite idea of what the nation thinks of the President's senate speech for a league of nations.

While the Minneapolis Journal, (Rep.) urges us "to be very sure that the European camel does not get its head inside our tent," the New York Times sounds the dominant note in public opinion when it declares that "the president's address compels ratification; it is an irresistible force which the senate cannot withstand." Other important news articles in this week's DIGEST are:

Nothing means more to every man and woman in | all sorts, for which few, indeed, of us would have the time. But this difficulty is merely apparent. You will find a solution for it on every news-stand in the shape of THE LITERARY DIGEST, the world's greatest news magazine, which gives you all sides of part in any discussion upon topics of general interest all the vital questions of the day from week to week with confidence and authority. To fit oneself to do this in any real sense would seemingly involve an impossible amount of reading of current periodicals of THE DIGEST this week and every week.
